

THREE TRAINMEN KILLED, ONE HURT IN A TRAIN CRASH

Phila. Night Express Hurl'd
From Rails by Buckling of Freight

NEAR GREENSBURG

Seventy-Eight Passengers Escape Unscathed, or With Minor Injuries

GREENSBURG, Pa., Mar. 27—(INS)

—Three trainmen were killed and one other injured early today when the fast Philadelphia night express was hurled from its rails by a freight car that buckled on a passing freight eight miles from here.

Seventy-eight passengers escaped unscathed, or with minor injuries.

The dead were George Kuhn, engineer, of Mt. Pleasant; and E. F. Snyder, fireman, of Altoona, Pa.; R. V. Mitchell, 51, Latrobe, a fireman.

The injured in Westmoreland Hospital here was C. W. Grove, 41, engineer, of Juniata, Pa., condition reported good.

The eastbound passenger train, moving about 65 miles an hour through a heavy rain, was sideswiped on a gradual curve a quarter-mile east of Manor, Pa., station, when the westbound freight, slowing for a signal, buckled. Tossed from its rails, a box car hurtled into the side of the passenger train's diner and was ripped to splinters.

The four-track roadbed was torn up for a quarter of a mile, the ties broken and rails twisted. Six sleepers, two day coaches, baggage cars and mail cars were flung helter-skelter. Freight cars were thrown clear, but virtually demolished.

Hundreds at nearby Manor rushed to the scene in night clothing and hastily donned coats and summoned medical aid.

The train left Pittsburgh at 11:35 last night on its way to Philadelphia through Greensburg, Johnstown and Harrisburg, with passengers from Cleveland, Chicago and Pittsburgh.

Among the passengers were Pat Fagan, Pittsburgh mine union official, and Rep. Eugene Caputo, who recently became speaker of the State House of Representatives of Pennsylvania. In one of the Pullman cars was H. P. Mishler, of Cleveland, escorting the body of his mother, Mrs. Mary Koons, 78, from his home to Graterford, near Philadelphia.

All the passengers were transferred to a special six car Pullman train that was rerouted through Altoona and Harrisburg. Mishler remained in the baggage car, beside his mother's casket.

"Mother was born with a veil on her face," he recalled. "She always told me that those born with veils were always lucky. (Maybe she was right.)"

The first locomotive of the express broke loose and turned over, tearing down poles of the nearby West Penn Power Company sub-station and plunging the village of Manor into darkness. The second engine was battered and virtually completely wrecked.

Live steam hissing from the wrecked monsters added to the terror of the passengers and rescuers who rushed here from Manor.

A mail car was thrown across the tracks and onto the Jeannette-Manor highway. Traffic was blocked on the Interurban tracks of the West Penn Railway Company.

Parts of the wreckage were tossed into light wires overhead and into fields nearby. All windows on the left side of the two day coaches were shattered. Several freight cars were virtually demolished.

A dozen ambulances from nearby communities, the Manor Volunteer Fire Department, and several physicians rushed to the scene. Several of the passengers said they slept through the crash.

One of the trainmen was trapped helplessly under the cabin of the first locomotive as the live steam for a time held back would be rescuers. The ghastly scene was described by Dr. Charles P. Snyder, of Manor:

"All the lights were out and it was raining. I crawled over the engines, which were down over the embankment. A man was pinned under the first cabin—all we could see were his legs. His arm was pinned under the wreckage and a jack was used to raise the engine so we could move him.

"The steam had exploded and it was awful hot. The man was conscious. He didn't seem to be in much pain but

URGENT PLEA MADE FOR FUNDS FOR FLOOD RELIEF

Total to Date Locally Reaches
Mark of $764.12; No
More Clothing Needed

FINANCES MAIN NEED

Officials of the Red Cross, in making an urgent plea for more funds for relief work among the flood sufferers of Pennsylvania, and other states in the union, are desirous of impressing upon the people of Bristol and other towns and cities the correct meaning as reported in the current press of the blanket authority given at Governor Earle's request by the Federal government to proceed with work by the WPA in the flood devastated area.

"This does not apply to or mean relief of human distress of families or individuals rendered destitute by the flood disaster or that any part of the work of the Red Cross has been taken over by Federal or State aid," advises J. Franklin McFadden, chairman of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Quoting Governor Earle: "So far as we can find out, the Federal government has not changed its theory that its work should be limited to work relief and that direct relief should be handled locally."

All family relief work remains as before this announcement, the responsibility of the American Red Cross which has appealed to every Red Cross chapter from Maine to Florida, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast to co-operate in the Red Cross Relief Fund," states Mr. McFadden.

Mrs. Joseph Smith, chairman of the Bristol Branch reports a total of receipts to date for this area of $764.12. Mrs. Smith tells of receiving the sum of 10 cents from a boy who is employed in the rural section, earning but $1 a week. "This is the spirit of giving that means so much," adds Mrs. Smith. People of Bristol and surrounding sections are responding nobly to this plea for aid to humanity. The plea is made more urgent because of the great losses suffered, countless people losing homes, clothing, food-stuffs, furniture and items that can never be replaced.

Money is the need just now, state Red Cross officials. A telegram sent by Richard F. Allen, manager of the Eastern area of the Red Cross, to Mr. McFadden, told the following: "Have been notified of great quantities of clothing which has been donated to flood sufferers in all our chapters from Maine to Louisiana, from Atlantic to Pacific coast also informed by Governor's office that miscellaneous supplies en route to affected areas are seriously hampering movement of emergency food and medical supplies. First emergency need for clothing has already been met and supplies on hand in chapters awaiting shipping instructions seem adequate take care total need." The Red Cross asks for finances as vast funds are needed for medical supplies, etc.

ENTHUSIASTIC HOME-MAKER HOPES FOR COOKING SCHOOL LOCALLY EACH YEAR; "NOTHING HELPS WOMEN MORE," SHE SAYS

Peppy Poetry, Ready Wit, Pleasing Smile, and Helpful Instructions of Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree Enjoyed by Hundreds—Final Session Tonight Will See Awarding of Several Attractive Major Gifts

"I hope we have a Cooking School every year," said one of the enthusiastic housewives of Bristol last evening after the third session of The Courier Cooking School. "Nothing helps women more, to do their housework, feed their families and make happy homes."

That is evidently the sentiment of many other women, if their attendance and rapt attention of the school sessions can be taken as evidence.

With peppy poetry, ready wit, and a pleasing smile does Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree speed her sessions on their way.

"I love to hear its gurgle. Listen to its steady flow; I like to wind her up. And I love to let her go."

Thus did the popular lecturer-demonstrator end her brief opening of the school, as she tactfully suggested that an undertone of talking might interfere. And the home-makers "took it" and liked it.

The hub-bub of happy voices was to be heard in the Bristol Methodist Church lecture room for an hour in advance of the opening of the third session. When some hand-bags were snapped open out came tatting, or some crochet work. Others had larger bags of knitting. And as fast as the fingers flew, so went the conversation. "Did you know this?" or "Have you read this paragraph?" were frequent comments as the women read over their literature pertaining to the displays at the school. And as they awaited the hour of eight they got into the spirit of a grand social hour, and conversational subjects went well into the hundreds. They did not lack for conversational topics as they viewed the beautiful display of kitchen equipment, living-room furniture, and cut-glass and hot-oven china at the front of the auditorium.

At the hour of eight Mrs. Joseph O. Canby, secretary-elect of Langhorne Sorosis, was introduced by a member of the staff of The Bristol Courier, and in a most charming manner presented

Last night's crowds were full of questions.

"But I want them to ask questions!" exclaimed Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree last night after the successful program of the big cooking school had been brought to a close. "I feel I know every one of the women as old friends now after these three days of cooking school and it is a great pleasure to answer some questions. Tell them all to come to the last session and bring their neighbors and friends."

SUPERIOR COURT IN OPINION AFFIRMS VERDICT

Perkasie Farm Insured Despite Cancellation, Is The Ruling

LETTER WAS INVOLVED

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 27—President Judge Hiram H. Keller was affirmed by the Superior Court of Pennsylvania in a decision in the case of Robert T. Hendricks versus Continental Insurance Company of New York, which involved an appeal from the judgment of the Court of Common Pleas of Bucks county.

The case was tried before the Court without a jury and the defendant appealed from the judgment entered on the finding in favor of the plaintiff.

The question raised at the trial was whether the fire insurance policy sued on was in force at the time of the loss or whether it had been cancelled.

The plaintiff June 16, 1933, took out fire insurance totaling $17,550 on farm buildings and live stock, near Perkasie. Later it was increased to $24,750. Subsequently the policies were cancelled by the companies.

The defendant company March 13, 1934, mailed to the plaintiff from the Philadelphia office, a written notice, of cancellation. The letter was addressed to the plaintiff sent by registered mail with a notation requesting a return receipt, containing the person's signature.

The letter arrived at the post office in Perkasie and a postman attempted to deliver it to the plaintiff, but he was not at home.

While sitting in his car one day outside the post office he was told by a post office employee there was "some insurance letter" inside for him, but he made no effort to obtain it.

Postal authorities returned the letter to the defendant April 10, 1934, and a similar notice was sent to the mortgagee. Upon receipt of the defendant's cancellation notice, Gotwals, an insurance agent, placed a binder in the amount of $2,000 covering the plaintiff's property with the Fire Association of Phila. This was done March 17, 1934, and a fire occurred April 28, 1934.

President Judge Keller ruled that the sum of $2168.23 with interest from April 28, 1934, was due and held that the policy of the defendant company had been in effect in full force and had not been cancelled.

"There is no testimony to indicate that the plaintiff knew what was in the letter," the Court argued.

The letter was returned April 19 and was in the hands of the appellant for 17 days prior to the fire."

MAKING A DICTATOR

(New York American, March 26, 1936)

Any person to whom Congress votes the enormous sum of $4,880,000,000 to be spent as the recipient wishes IS CREATED A DICTATOR BY THAT ACT IN ITSELF.

The history of the decline of freedom throughout the world is always the same.

A parliamentary body allows its powers of spending and of levying taxes to slip from its hands INTO THE HANDS OF THE RULER.

The history of this Administration for three years has been the history of just such a usurpation.

Congress has not only abdicated its constitutional right to originate all legislation but no longer cares WHERE THE MONEY GOES that it appropriates.

Senator Vandenberg had this to say recently about this gradual undermining of Congressional prerogatives:

"I protest against a method of appropriation which in reality takes from Congress the appropriating power and lodges it almost exclusively in the hands of the Executive.

"If you ever take from Congress the power over the purse and lodge it in the hands of the Executive, I care not how nobly meditated your purpose and action may have been at the moment, you have set the formula for dictatorship."

Congress has authorized very few of the vast projects that the Roosevelt Administration has undertaken.

They have been ORDERED as Caesar Augustus rebuilt Rome or Louis XIV built Versailles—BY IMPERIAL UKASE.

It is high time that the American people were made conscious of the fact that our constitutional forms of government are being taken from us bit by bit by a system of gumshoeing that has not even the merit of being original.

Says Pretty Teachers Are Needed in Schools

What the school rooms need is prettier teachers, said Roland L. Eaton, school director of Swarthmore College, when addressing a session of Schoolmen's Week at the University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia.

Now there is a difference of opinion on that subject. Some agree with Mr. Eaton and others claim that if teachers are too attractive the students will not keep their minds on their work.

"I don't blame some children for not wanting to go to school—after I see their teachers," Eaton said.

Attractiveness and personality are among the requisites of a Bristol school teacher. Photographs generally accompany applications and these are carefully scrutinized at meetings of the Board of Directors.

"Good health, intelligence sufficient to grasp the abstract, emotional control, good breeding, pleasant voice, ability to make friends, ability to command respect, a sense of humor, capacity to work, proper student attitude, rich experience background, varied interests, understanding of child life, leadership capacity, executive capacity and desire and capacity to continue growing, are necessary," concluded Mr. Eaton.

CORNWELLS BANK HAS REPAID $14,331 LOAN

Payment Releases $53,359 in Assets for Liquidation
Among Depositors

BANK CLOSED DEC., 1931

(By International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 27—A loan of $14,331 obtained by the defunct Cornwells State Bank of Cornwells Heights from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has been repaid, Dr. Luther A. Harr, state secretary of banking, announced today.

Payment of the loan releases assets appraised at $53,359 for liquidation in behalf of the depositors. Costs of the loan, obtained from RFC on August 8, 1934, amounted to $647. Through the loan, the bank was able to make a dividend payment of 12 per cent on August 29, 1934.

The institution closed its doors on December 24, 1931, owing 1,899 depositors $238,113. Since that time the bank has paid depositors $153,892 or 62 per cent of their deposits.

Plan Vacation Tour In 25-Foot Motor Boat

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 27—(INS)—Frank Nogradi and his son, Frank, Jr., 19, already have their vacation plans pretty well in mind.

These coming summer days they expect to cruise on the Atlantic in a 25-foot cabin motor boat they have been building in their spare time for the last year and a half. The keel was laid in August, 1934, and work continued evenings and Sunday when Nogradi, a boat builder, was free from his regular employment. The launching is expected to take place this summer at Point Pleasant, N. J.

Four berths, a sink, stove, and several dressers are among cabin appointments. The boat will be powered by a six-cylinder automobile engine.

Regular use of the Courier Classified column is economical and profitable.

Reynoldstown Wins

By Charles H. Smith
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

Aintree, England, Mar. 27—Reynoldstown, third favorite in the betting, became the second horse in history to score a second victory in the Grand National Steeplechase today, coming home first, ahead of a field of 35 of the world's best jumpers.

With more than $7,000,000 in Irish Hospital sweepstakes, money hanging on the outcome, Reynoldstown forged into the lead in the last few paces of one of the most thrilling races in the history of the event.

Ego was second, and Bachelor Prince was third.

None of the six crack American entries placed.

Davey Jones, a 100 to 1 shot, was the surprise of the race, taking an early lead, lost it for awhile, and then coming in ahead in the final lap of the treacherous 4½-mile course, stiffest in the world.

Davey Jones was leading at the last obstacle, a 15-foot water jump, more than 12 feet of which is water, but here Reynoldstown, 1934 victor, came through to win again.

Golden Miller, 9 to 2, fell at the first jump, just as she did last year, and lost the chance to win, although the jockey remounted and continued on.

Ohio River Rising

Cincinnati, Ohio, Mar. 27—The Ohio River rose slightly here today to a new high level of 59.9 feet, but advices from upstream indicate the danger of additional floods has passed.

Unless further rains occur, the river may be expected to begin to recede Sunday, and to drop below the flood stage of 52 feet by the middle of next week, W. W. Devereau, United States meteorologist, predicted.

Large crews of WPA workers turned into putting inundated residences into condition. Hundreds of flood refugees were still being fed by the Red Cross.

ANDALUSIA SCOUTS DO EXCELLENT WORK

Collect Much Clothing, Other Articles for Victims of Flood

A VERY "GOOD TURN"

ANDALUSIA, Mar. 27—Heeding the pleas of thousands made homeless throughout the flood areas, was the subject of the "Good Turn" of the Cubs, Boy Scouts and Sea Scouts last Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

On Thursday night at the regular monthly meeting, the Men's Boy Scout Committee decided that the emergency was great and that haste was urgent.

Friday, the teachers of the Andalusia public school sent home with each student a mimeographed plea for clothing, food or money and the students of Bensalem High School were notified that collections in answer to the plea would start Saturday.

Friday evening the Bristol Courier printed a notice that the Boy Scout Cabin would be open for contributions and some of the boys from each unit went out soliciting for the flood victims. On Saturday at 8:30 a. m., collecting started. Express wagons were at a premium and all roads led to the Boy Scout Cabin on Bristol Pike.

Autos, express wagons, bicycles and arms were made use of.

Load after load came and until the early hours of Sunday morning, the articles were being sorted and packed. Sunday was a repetition of Saturday and by 2 p. m. a load of clothing and

THE JOHNSTOWN FLOOD

A despatch from Johnstown, Pa., describing the 1936 flood and harking back to the great flood of '89, gives the number of the known dead in that catastrophe as 2,235. Since the best estimates at the time, confirmed by Federal census in the next year, put the victims at three times that number, something of the history of the visitation may not be amiss.

Johnstown is at the confluence of the Conemaugh River and Stony Creek. Above the most easterly borough of the nine constituting Johnstown City, the valley of the Conemaugh empties into a deep, rocky gorge in which South Fork Creek empties. Two miles up this creek was a reservoir, storing water for the Old Pennsylvania Canal. The reservoir was two miles long, one-third of a mile wide and 72 feet deep at the embankment.

For days preceding the flood there had been torrential rains, and Johnstown itself was already inundated in its lower sections. In mid-afternoon of May 31 the embankment at the south Fork Creek reservoir gave way, releasing all its contents in 45 minutes. This mass of water swept over the town of South Ford, whose population had fortunately taken to the hills, and entered the 10-mile gorge to Johnstown. The steep sides of this course were thickly timbered and covered with huge boulders which offered sufficient resistance to the flood to pile it still higher.

The absence of telephones, and the quick destruction of other means of communication, caught Johnstown wholly unprepared for the avalanche. East of Johnstown the valley opens, but the flood still stood at 30 feet and its accumulation of tree trunks and boulders served as battering rams to flatten all in its wake. At Johnstown a massive stone bridge held, and there the flood formed a vast whirlpool 30 acres in extent. Meanwhile a cloudburst had occurred, and to cap an already appalling tragedy, a great fire, lasting four days, swept through the accumulated wreckage that lined the whirlpool. With the recession of the water, it was found that nothing remained of Johnstown borough, while high in the hills the spaces between standing buildings were packed solidly the conglomerate rubbish to heights of 20 feet.

FLYING TURKEY

The news from Turkey, as put forth by its official press agency, contains some surprising information about the development of the Turkish air forces. Last year, 57,000 persons joined the Turkish Aerostatic League, and contributed money for the purchase of 500 planes. To encourage civil aviation, the League founded an organization called, according to the press agency, the Turkish Brid.

"The Turkish Brid," it says, "has today 34 planemasters and 29 parachutists possessing a degree. . . . The Turkish Brid disposes for the training of its members of 46 planes and two airplanes."

Long may the Turkish planemasters enjoy their planes!

Tentative arrangements were made for contests in music, poetry, poster work, and dancing; as well as for roller skating race, a baseball tournament, and athletic events. The athletic events will occur at the Bristol high school field, May 2nd.

The roller skating contest will be conducted by Miss Marian Harrison; and the athletic events will be in charge of Miss Margaret Pope. Announcements for those directing other contests will be made later.

Andalusia Scouts Do Excellent Work

food totaling about two tons was delivered to Mayor Wilson's Flood Relief Depot in Philadelphia. This load was on its way to the flood areas within 15 minutes after arrival.

Collections and packing continued all day Sunday and on Tuesday a load of about 1½ tons was delivered to the Red Cross depot in Philadelphia.

Money totaling $22.31 was turned over to Mrs. Perkins of Cornwall Heights, who is chairman of the Red Cross for this section.

The success attained in this venture was due to the wonderful co-operation of all concerned.

Thanks are due to the following: The Men's Boy Scout Committee, The Bristol Courier, the Cubs, Boy Scouts and Sea Scouts, the Mothers' Auxiliary, who so ably helped Mr. Harry Oliver and Mr. Robert Murray who delivered the crates of articles to the Philadelphia depots; the teachers of Andalusia public school and Bensalem high school, and most of all to all those who so generously contributed so that others might live and recover from their so vivid terrifying experiences.

was very limp. We finally got him out, and Dr. Prothero (Dr. H. Ray Prothero, of Jeannette) bandaged him. It was terrible, with the rain and darkness and the terrible steam."

Dr. Prothero and his son, Dr. John C. Prothero, administered first aid and rushed the victims to the hospital.

In the baggage car of the train were two canaries, 22 cartons of chicks, a can of gold fish, a cat, a swan, some ducks and a litter of guinea pigs. One canary was killed; some of the gold fish were lost. Baggage man Jess Yont was bruised.

In the baggage car also was the body of James Wertz, en route from Mason City, Iowa, to Newport, Pa., in charge of John Wepler and his wife, Maud.

Grove, the fireman, suffered scalded feet and abrasions of the legs. Mitchell, the engineer, suffered a probable skull fracture and lacerations of the head and face.

Traffic on the main line was re-routed over the Conemaugh Division and some trains were as much as two hours behind schedule in reaching Pittsburgh. Wrecking crews were hurriedly dispatched to the scene and began the task of clearing the rails.

Enthusiastic Home-Maker Hopes For School Each Year

Mrs. Crabtree's enthusiasm helps to make the success of The Bristol Courier's Cooking School. And besides enthusiasm, she is bringing to the women of Bristol a vast fund of home-making knowledge; new recipes at each session, new ideas, new tricks with mixing, new suggestions for menu planning.

The audience's questions at the third session continued to be one of the most interesting phases of the School and Mrs. Crabtree expressed her pleasure at the interest the women of Bristol take in cookery and homemaking, as shown by these questions. A number of women reported that they had tried some of the new recipes on their family already and with good results. They begged for more and more such dishes, and got them in the third day's free recipe sheet.

The refrigerator and range and other appliances in Mrs. Crabtree's kitchen have created much interest and enthusiasm. These new utensils and new methods of mixing held the audience's attention as keenly as the cooking which Mrs. Crabtree and her assistant carried on from the moment the session opened until the last minute of the program's time.

Suggestions given by the lecturer-demonstrator were most helpful, and the home-makers were very appreciative. "Have a hot oven in order to set the undercrust of your pies," was one suggestion. "Then lower the heat for baking the filling." In speaking of lifting cookery out of the realm of the ordinary in which so many place it, Mrs. Crabtree advised "Don't get into a rut with your cooking. Don't make dishes the same way each time."

When the time came for awarding of gifts, one woman was made doubly happy, for on the previous night she had carried home a bag of groceries, and last evening was awarded a shoe-

NAMES in the NEWS

ONE of the first things a cub reporter learns is that names make news. There are two kinds of names which make news. Names of people. And names of things — products and services — things which touch you more closely than the thunderings of a Senator or the escapades of a Prince.

Look through the advertisements in this newspaper and you'll see names you've known most of your life. Dependable names—names that stand for value — announcing improvements in quality, improvements in service, new and better ways to perform old household tasks, ways to save money and raise your standard of living.

Follow the news those names are making, day after day. Read the advertisements regularly, and use them as millions of other people are doing—to keep up-to-date in the world of goods and services; to save time, effort and trouble in shopping; to help budget your expenditures and get the most for your money.

Cooking School Recipes

Following are the recipes demonstrated at the Courier's cooking school last evening.

HUSBAND'S CAKE

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup shortening
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups sugar
 1 cup tomato soup (canned)
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cup water
 1 teaspoon soda
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cups flour
 $\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoons baking powder
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cinnamon
 1 teaspoon cloves
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon nutmeg
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups raisins
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups chopped nuts

Measure shortening and sugar into mixing bowl. Blend together. Combine tomato soup (not cream of tomato) with water and soda. Add to first mixture alternately with all sifted dry ingredients. Stir in raisins and nuts. Pour into 9 inch tube pan or large loaf pan rubbed with fat. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. about one hour.

CHEESE FONDANT ICING: Blend 2 packages cream cheese with 1 egg yolk and 3 cups confectioners sugar, a cup of sugar at a time. Add $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

SHOO FLY PIE

LIQUIDS:

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup molasses
 1 egg yolk
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon baking soda dissolved in $\frac{3}{4}$ cup boiling water
CRUMBS
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cup flour
 2 tablespoons shortening
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cinnamon
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon each nutmeg, ginger, cloves
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup brown sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt

To make crumbs, combine flour, sugar, salt, spices; work in shortening. To make liquid, beat molasses, egg yolk, soda and hot water. Line pan with pastry. Make alternate layers of crumbs and liquid. Top with crumbs. Bake in hot oven 450 degrees F. until crust edges start to brown. Reduce heat to 375 degrees F. Bake until firm about 20 minutes. Serve with sweetened whipped cream.

PLAIN PASTRY

$\frac{1}{2}$ cups flour
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon baking powder
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup shortening
 ice water
 Sift together the flour, salt and baking powder. Work in the shortening lightly with the fingers, or cut it in with knives. Use just enough water to hold mixture together and roll out on a floured board.

MAPLE MUFFINS

2 cups flour
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup shortening
 2 well beaten eggs
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cup maple syrup
 Mix eggs, shortening, milk and syrup together. Add to the sifted dry ingredients with just as little beating as possible; turn into greased muffin pans and bake in a moderately hot oven 400 degrees F. for 25 minutes.

TASTY TOAST

2 eggs
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk

$\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 6 slices bread
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups left-over minced meat
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon table mustard
 4 to 6 tablespoons fat for frying

Beat eggs lightly, add milk and salt. Dip thick slices of bread in mixture. Melt plenty of fat in skillet, when hot add bread and fry until tasty brown on both sides. Mix minced meat with mustard and spread over surface of toast. Place in hot oven long enough to heat thoroughly. Garnish with parsley just before serving.

ORANGE CREAM

Fold $\frac{1}{3}$ cup of orange marmalade into 1 cup of whipped cream or evaporated milk, and freeze in the tray of a mechanical refrigerator, to make a delightful dessert or an interesting topping for pie or pudding.

HAM LOAF WITH MINT PEARS

1 pound ham ground
 $\frac{3}{4}$ lb. pork shoulder, ground
 1 egg beaten
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper
 Mix ingredients in order given and bake in loaf pan one hour at 375 degrees F.

FRENCH FRIED PEARS WITH MINT

Drain canned pears thoroughly. Dip pear halves in cracker crumbs, then in beaten egg diluted with milk (1 tablespoon milk to each egg), then in cracker crumbs again. Fry in deep, hot fat 375 degrees F. until a delicate brown. Drain on unglazed paper. Serve hot with main course. Pineapple, peaches or bananas can be prepared in the same way.

SANTA CLARA SALAD

24 canned or stewed pears
 2 packages cream cheese
 1 No. 2½ can sliced pineapple
 Maraschino cherries
 head lettuce

Stone pears. Soften cheese with little cream or mayonnaise if necessary, and stuff pears. Place pineapple on lettuce and arrange 3 stuffed pears on each slice. Garnish pears with bits of maraschino cherries. Serves 8.

BROILED GRAPEFRUIT

Cut large grapefruit in halves. Remove seeds and core. Loosen sections by cutting around them with a curved knife, but do not take out the membrane. Pour off excess juice. Dot generously with butter and sprinkle heavily with brown sugar. If desired, sprinkle with a little nutmeg. Place under a broiler and cook until nicely browned. Serve piping hot.

CORNMEAL MUFFINS

Sprinkle finely chopped uncooked bacon on top of the muffins or cornbread batter just as it is being placed in the oven. The bacon cooks while the hot bread is baking and provides both trimming and flavor. This hot bread goes well with scrambled eggs.

make her tax-conscious, then we would be on our way to recovery.

"The only letters the present administration has not used, are 'I. O. U.' and 'C. O. D.'"

"To quiet the women of the nation particularly the present administration says that the great amount of money being spent is going for relief. If the women of America actually knew that it was going for relief, not a single one would enter a protest, but they know differently. I have only to cite the splendid co-operation of the women and men of Pennsylvania in the flood disaster, when it comes to real relief work.

"At a recent meeting in Berks county, I heard United States Senator James Davis quote from official figures that the unemployment problem has not been solved and is actually worse today than ever before, so you see the money is not all going for relief.

"When men return home at the end of the week with pay envelopes and not with dole then we will be getting somewhere. It is not over-production but a case of under-consumption in this country."

During the business session reports of delegates to the recent state convention of the Council of Republican Women were given by Mrs. William Hunsicker, of Perkaskie, and Miss Eleanor Worthington, of Hartsville.

Mrs. John W. Cooper, of Pineville, president of the Bucks County Council, presided. She urged the women of the Council and their friends to attend the luncheon meetings being held monthly in Philadelphia, at which time speakers of national importance can be heard.

Rivers Rising

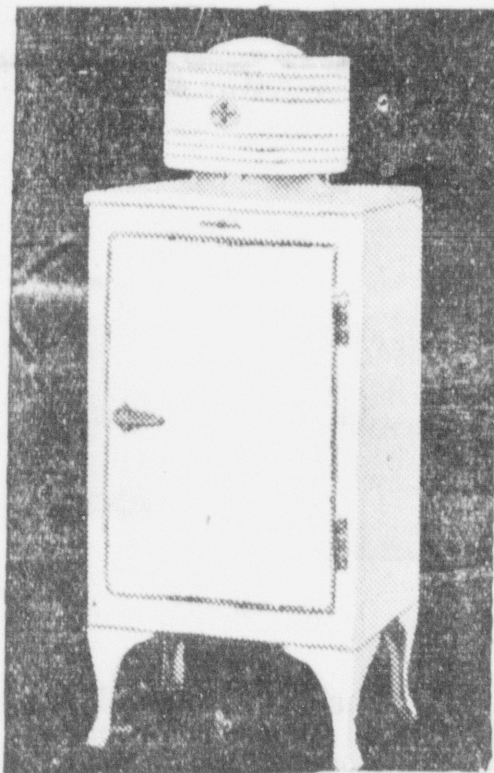

Pittsburgh, Mar. 27—While Pittsburgh's swollen rivers rose slowly toward flood stage, civic and industrial leaders were to meet today to discuss means of raising funds for the necessary rehabilitation and rebuilding program, and to devise a plan to prevent the re-occurrence of the recent disaster.

Mrs. Crabtree will complete her demonstrations tonight. This will be the fourth of her successful demonstrations that delighted the women of Bristol. Come tonight—this will be the greatest session of all, and you will learn many new things about the performance of General Electric equipment. The refrigerator and range are in actual use on the platform and play an important part in the demonstrations.

Deposit your coupons before 5 o'clock tonight at our store and you will have an opportunity to take home this beautiful radio.

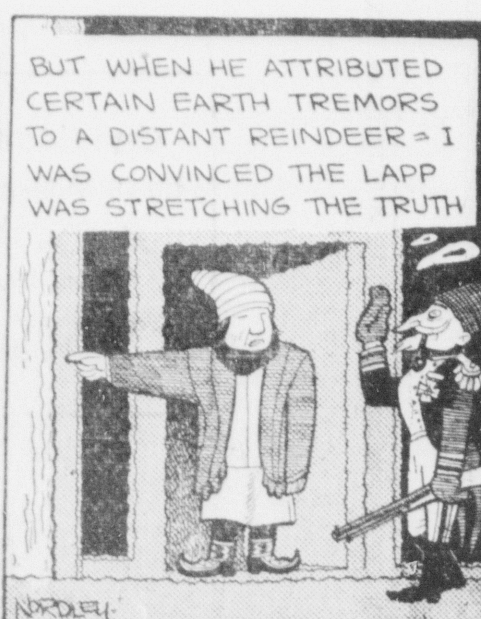

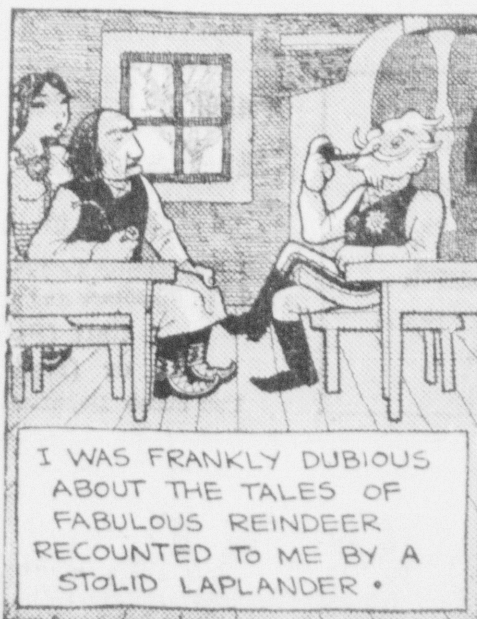

Mrs. Crabtree is completing a hard program, and she proudly boasts as the school is about to be closed for another year that without General Electric equipment she would not have been able to conduct such a marvelous series of demonstrations. She cannot point to either the refrigerator or the range in particular, because both the refrigeration and cookery units have performed nobly. She recommends this equipment for your home and urges you to give our representative an opportunity to explain the convenient terms for purchasing G.E. Refrigerators and Ranges.

"ODDIES" LOSE CHANCE TO DEADLOCK SERIES

By T. M. Juno

Failure to stop "Ernie" Birchenough and "Mintzie" Manczak caused the Odd Fellows to lose an opportunity to deadlock the play-off series of the Bristol Amateur Basketball League. As the result the Moose Musketeers won the fray and also the championship of the loop. Final count stood: Moose, 36; Odd Fellows, 26.

Birchenough was the big gun in the Moose's triumph. He hit the cords for eight double-deckers and a foul. Seven of his twin-pointers came in the first half to keep the ultimate winners in the lead throughout. His co-partner, Manczak, was good for five field goals and three charity throws. The pair scored thirty of the thirty-six points. Joe Roe made four points while the other two went to Herb Lawrence.

The first half of the tilt was a scoring bee between Frank Frankovic and Ernie Lawrence. Birchenough twice put the Moose into the lead with long shots but Frankovic deadlocked the score on both occasions with over-hand shots under the basket. Bobby Weideman stepped into the picture and with two double-deckers put the Odd Fellows six points in the van but Birchenough was not to be outdone and with help from Manczak scored four field goals and two fouls to give the Moose a three-point lead at half-time.

Shortly after the start of the third period, the Odd Fellows lost Danny via the personal foul route. The Moose began to play defensive ball, fighting to protect its short lead. Weideman shaved the lead with a two-pointer but Mintzie Manczak twice hit the cords for twin-pointers and before the close of the third period the Moose were in front 29-21, the Oddies being held to one field goal in the quarter.

Bobby Weideman and Frank Frankovic led the Odd Fellows' scoring with eight and nine points, respectively.

PUCCIO TO RETURN TO ST. ANN'S ARENA MONDAY

Tony Puccio, who has been on the sidelines because of injuries, will return to the ring Monday night in the Italian Mutual Aid arena. Puccio in returning will meet one of the best 126-pounders in Philadelphia, Ralph Mazzone, Mason A. C. This bout has been okayed by the Middle Atlantic district of the A. A. U. and will prove to be another of the wonderful fighting bouts to be put on the card by matchmaker Patsy Moffo.

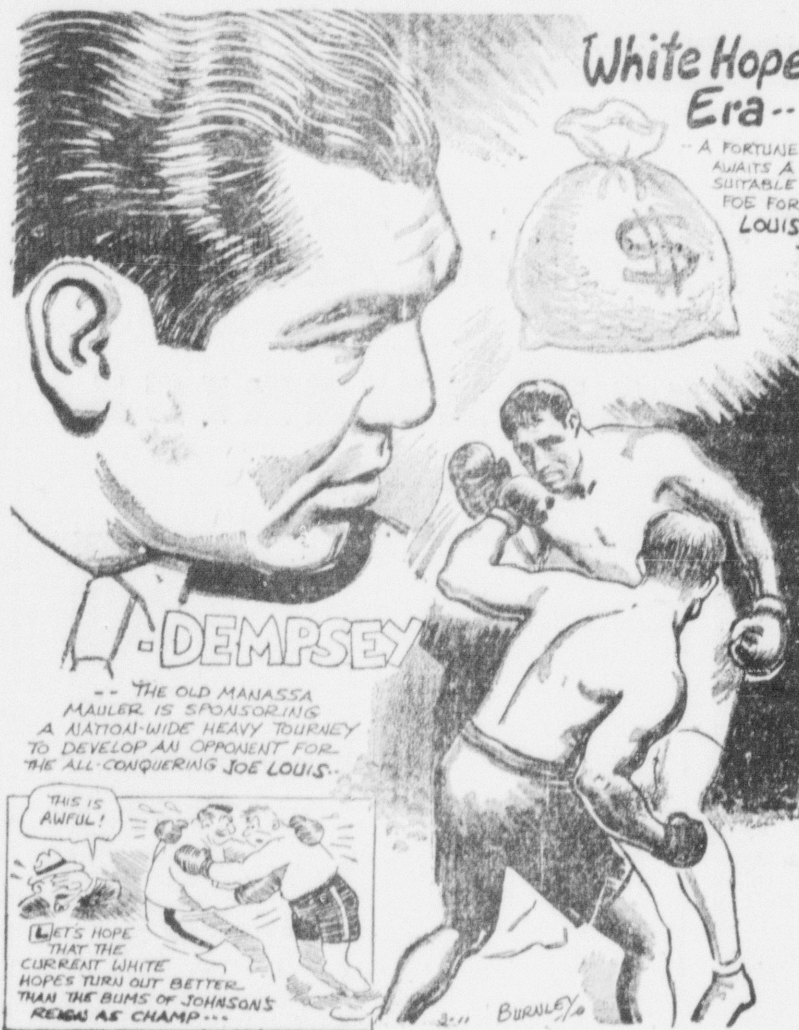

Puccio has been training quite hard for this bout and is anxious to win over Mazzone, who was runner-up in the recent tournament in Philadelphia. The Bristol youth is noted for his speed and is always swinging while in action. Mazzone is equally as fast as the St. Ann's fighter and is out to kazo the Bristolian.

Other bouts on the card are as follows: Tony Maglione, St. Ann's, and Al Hall, Kensington; Francis McClay, Kensington, and Ralph Romano, Mason; Jules Zeffries, St. Ann's, and Frank Falcone, Mason; Salvatore Cirilli, Mason, and Philip Quici, St. Ann's; Vince Della, St. Ann's, and Al Gallagher, East Side; Joie Zettler, St. Ann's, and Willie Baines, Mason; Al Paris, St. Ann's, and Joie McCaffery, St. Ann's.

There are still a few choice reserve seats left which may be secured by phoning 9934.

Return of the White Hope Era

By BURNLEY

Although Joe Louis has Schmeling and Braddock to dispose of before he gains the accolade of heavyweight ruler of the universe, we are already witnessing a return of the old "white hope" fever that swept over the fistie world after the ebony Jack Johnson ascended the heavyweight throne.

Nearly everyone regards Louis as a copper-riveted cinch to brush aside the veteran Schmeling and the slow-moving Braddock, so the white hope epidemic is on in earnest.

A tidy fortune awaits the manager who can unearth a suitable victim for the Tan Terror from Detroit, so all the master minds (?) of cauliflower-dom are frantically searching hither and yon for heavyweights of any description.

Wild-eyed fight pilots are cluttering up the gymnasiums with overgrown tramps, most of whom cannot even hold up their hands and would be better off driving trucks or digging ditches.

Already an official white hope tourney has been inaugurated with Jack Dempsey, of all people, as the sponsor. All over the country elimination bouts are being held, and it's dollars to doughnuts that the white hopes uncarthd in this process will be as futile as the stumblebums of the Johnson era.

It's really rather funny that Dempsey, who in his reign as champion carefully avoided a meeting with Wills, should be ballyhooing a white hope search at this time.

Although Jack insists that his tournament is not really a "white hope" search, since colored battlers are not barred, the fact remains that that is what it really amounts to. But Mister Louis has nothing to worry about.

By T. M. Juno

Capturing their third straight win, the All-Stars easily defeated the Third Ward Rangers in the preliminary game. The final score was 35-22. The All-Stars were in the lead from the start and although the Rangers threatened several times they were unable to cope with the Stars.

"Punkie" Zeffries again stepped into the scoring limelight when he made seven field goals and two fouls, despite that Joe Flatch insisted on hanging on his neck throughout the game. Dorsey had ten points and Bobby Rue registered seven. For the losers, Lawler and Lake had four field goals apiece.
